

Gas Sensors with Printed Electrodes

Ryedale Printing Group

- The first large scale demonstration from a commercial press of printed sensor electrodes using UV Litho conductive ink printed onto a plastic substrate

- The printed conductive electrodes were converted to sensitive gas sensors by deposition of conducting polymer layers that can measure volatile chemicals

Moving Forward:
The Northern Way

